

IELTS Practice Test Volume 8 Reading Practice Test 1

HOW TO USE

You have 2 ways to access the test

1. Open this URL <http://link.intergreat.com/SO4EJ> on your computer
2. Use your mobile device to scan the QR code attached

Reading Passage 1

You should spend about 20 minutes on Questions 1 -13, which are based on Reading Passage 1 below.

Reading Passage 1

India's Modern Women

India's Modern Women

The country's younger generation is shedding submissive attitudes, wants careers, and longs for wealth. And marketers are paying attention. When the first American music videos and popular TV shows began appearing in Indian homes in the early 1990s thanks to satellite and cable, many pundits predicted Indian society would never be the same. For the first time, female viewers saw independent, successful women and fun, sensitive guys. Sex and divorce were openly discussed in these TV imports and couples kissed passionately - then still a taboo in Indian TV shows and movies.

Indeed, the impact on younger generations of Indian women has been profound. Whereas Indian women traditionally have been submissive to parents and husbands and valued frugality and modesty, a number of sociological studies show that young Indian females now prize financial independence, freedom to decide when to marry and have children, and glamorous careers. A generation back, women would sacrifice themselves and believed in saving. Today, it is spend, spend, spend. It is OK for a woman to want something for herself, and people will accept it if she goes out into a man's world making a statement.

Because today's young women are the key consumer group of tomorrow, these shifts have big implications for marketing companies. And the trends come out clearly in two recent studies. One study examined 3,400 unmarried women aged 19-22 of different income and social levels. Altogether, the project involved 40 focus groups in five large urban areas and five smaller cities. In some cases, the researchers lived with the women for a while to study them more closely. The researchers supplemented this data with interviews of journalists, teachers, and psychologists.

Among the findings:

- Guilt-free materialism. 51% of young single women in major urban areas say it is necessary to have a big house and big car to be happy. In smaller cities, 86% agreed with this statement. This shows that the less women have, the greater are their aspirations. One woman interviewed was making just $200 a year but said she wants to own a jet plane. A typical comment in recent interviews was, 'I want money, fame, and success.'

[Access <https://ieltonlinetests.com for more practices>](https://ieltonlinetests.com for more practices)

- Parental ties. Traditionally, parents regarded girls as somebody else's future property. They arranged marriages for their daughters, and then the daughters would go away and take care of their in-laws, so parents needed and doted on sons. However, today's young women are rebelling against that. 67% say they plan to take care of their parents into their old age - and that means they need money. The company Unilever played on that sentiment with a recent controversial - but successful - ad for its Fair and Lovely line of beauty products. A daughter came home and found that her parents had no sugar for coffee because they couldn't afford it. She became an airline hostess after using the Fair and Lovely products to make her beautiful. She then visited her parents and took them to a first-class restaurant.

- Marital freedom. Now, many women say they will marry when ready - not when their parents decide to marry them off. 65% say dating is essential, and they also want to become financially independent before they marry. 76% say they want to maintain that independence afterwards. 60% say they will decide how to spend their own salaries. What is more, 76% say they will decide when to have children. They now regard this as the woman's decision completely. In big metro areas, 24% say they never want children, and that number reaches 40% in smaller cities.

- Individualism. Female role models in Indian culture used to personify perfection. Now, 62% of girls say it is OK if they have faults and that people see them. They do not want to be seen as Mrs. Perfect. Popular TV role models are like Phoebe in 'Friends' - women who commit blunders.

- Careerism. A decade ago, most young women saw themselves as housewives. After that, most said they wanted to be teachers or doctors. If they had a profession at all, it had to be a noble cause. Now, it is about glamour, money, and fame. A surprising 45% of young single females say they would like to be journalists. This may be because prominent female Indian journalists, especially TV reporters, are seen as very glamorous. Another 39% say they would like to be managers, 38% are interested in design, and 20% think they want to be teachers. Interestingly, 13% say they would like to be in the military. The percentage of those saying they want to be a full-time housewife is minuscule.

- Modern husbands. The relationship with the husband used to be one of awe. Now, women want a partner and a relationship of equals. A recent Whirlpool ad shows a man washing the family clothes before his wife comes home from work, while a Samsung home appliance ad shows a husband and wife cooking together.

Questions 1-4

The text refers to 6 main findings when young Indian women were surveyed.

Which finding contains each of the following pieces of information?

Young Indian women who want more tend to be poorer.

1

Few young Indian women want to be housewives.

2

Most young Indian women want to take care of their retired parents.

3

Most young Indian women want to be financially independent.

4

Questions 5-8

Complete the following sentences using NO MORE THAN THREE WORDS from the text for each gap.

5  are freely talked about on American TV shows.

Young women are considered to be the future's most important 6  by many companies.

Most young Indian women surveyed agree that 7  before marriage is necessary.

In the past, young Indian women who wanted careers were most likely to consider teaching or becoming doctors because each of these is considered to be

8

Questions 9-13

Do the following statements agree with the information given in Reading Passage 1?

In boxes 9 - 13 on your answer sheet, write

TRUE	if the statement agrees with the information
FALSE	if the statement contradicts the information
NOT GIVEN	If there is no information on this

- 9  The effect of American culture on young Indian women was not forecast when satellite and cable TV arrived in India.
- 10  Researchers used three methods to get their data.
- 11  Most young Indian women are aiming for perfection.
- 12  Most of the best journalists on TV in India are women.
- 13  Modern men and women in India cook together.

Reading Passage 2

You should spend about 20 minutes on Questions 14 - 26, which are based on Reading Passage 2 below.

Childhood Obesity

A. If a child becomes obese, their body processes can change. Some of these may be difficult or even impossible to alter in adulthood. Fat cells are created in the first few years of life. If fat is stored quickly, more fat cells are created. So an obese child can have up to three times as many as a normal child. Eventually, fat cells stop multiplying, and an adult has a fixed number for the rest of their life. The existing cells simply swell or shrink to accommodate more fat. The amount of fat the body wants to store is thought to be proportional to the total number of fat cells. So if you were overweight as a child, your body is programmed to carry more fat. This does not mean that you cannot lose weight through diet and exercise, but it will be harder.

B. Few health problems are observed in obese children, but they may develop conditions that cause problems later in life, such as high blood pressure. They may also suffer from 'sleep apnoea'. When this happens, soft tissue in the throat blocks the airways during sleep. This can stop their breathing for up to a minute. This process can happen hundreds of times a night, leading to heart disease, memory problems, headaches, and tiredness. Some obese children may develop diabetes. Normally, this condition only starts much later in life. When it strikes, the body stops being able to process sugar properly, and the cells are starved of energy. Diabetes cannot be cured, but it can be treated. It may lead to problems such as nerve damage, heart disease, kidney disease, and blindness. Children with this condition will have to live with it all their lives, increasing the chance of problems.

C. Negative body image can cause depression and social problems - overweight children are often teased. Low self-esteem may not directly affect physical health, but it is actually the biggest problem obese children meet in everyday life. It may even lead to 'comfort eating' (eating to feel good), making the situation even worse. If modern-day culture placed less emphasis on the 'perfect body', then at least one set of problems associated with obesity would disappear.

D. Although the causes are not yet completely understood, it is clear to scientists that both genes and the environment play a role. The recent increase in obesity in many countries around the world seems to be linked to environmental factors. Firstly, many people are much less physically active nowadays. Secondly, fatty and sugary foods are more accessible to more people. Thirdly, average portion sizes have become larger as people have more food to eat and restaurants, particularly fast food ones, serve larger portions for relatively little extra money. Fourthly, calories per mouthful of food have increased.

E. Traditionally, children all over the world have been forced by their parents to finish all the food that is on their plate. Don't force children to eat more when they say they are full - otherwise they could lose their ability to naturally regulate what they eat. Wait a few minutes before serving a second portion of food at mealtimes. It takes some time for the messages that tell us we have had enough to eat to reach the brain. Another global tradition is that of giving children their favourite food as a reward for good behaviour or good grades at school. Using food as a reward is never a good idea because your child will learn to value these particular 'treat' foods and may turn to food for comfort. Use non-food rewards instead - they don't need to be large material rewards. One of the best motivators is praise! Don't tell your child off for being fat. Your child may already feel upset about their weight. Telling them off will only make them feel worse and may add to the problem if they then turn to food for comfort. Don't single out your child as the one with the problem. Introduce healthier meals to the whole family. This way, everyone can make healthy changes to their lifestyle.

F. It is not worth forbidding fattening foods, because forbidding certain foods can make them seem more attractive to children. Teach your child about the health value of foods, particularly those that are rich in vitamins and nutrients. Make your home a healthy food zone. Fill up the fruit bowl instead of buying biscuits and crisps. Remember that your child is likely to model themselves on your behaviour, so choose healthy food options whenever possible. Offering a child a choice of food is generally not a good idea. Research has shown that when there is more choice available, we tend to eat more. Even the sight or smell of tempting food can override the body's natural mechanism of regulation, so we eat when we're not hungry. If you do decide to offer your child a choice, keep the options to an absolute minimum.

G. Weight management camps can be a good way to treat obesity. One of the problems is keeping off the weight that kids lose at such camps. If the child comes home and none of the family members have altered their eating habits, improvements may be difficult to sustain. Again, lead by example! An increasing number of parents ask their doctors about surgery (e.g. liposuction) to tackle obesity. If a child has massive obesity and his or her health is being put at serious risk, then all options have to be considered. Surgical treatments have shown good results in adults, but there are serious risks. Performing surgery on children would raise some difficult issues. This option should really only be considered when all others have been exhausted,

H. Parents of even young children can make sure the family changes to a healthy lifestyle rather than targeting weight loss specifically. Children grow at different rates, and many overweight children will 'grow out of it' as they grow taller. Few treatments are targeted at children under the age of seven years. From age eight to ten, a child who is obese should have a medical evaluation to assess the severity of the problem. The older your child is, the less likely they are to grow out of it. A 15-year-old who is overweight is likely to remain so in adulthood.

Questions 14-17

The text has 8 paragraphs (A - H).

Which paragraph does each of the following headings best fit?

14  Feeling bad about yourself

15  Reducing weight

16  Age is a factor

17  Fat cells

Questions 18-22

According to the text, FIVE of the following statements are true.

Write the corresponding letters in answer boxes 18 to 22 in any order.

- A ☐ Adults do not gain fat cells.
- B ☐ Diabetes is not a permanent problem for a person.
- C ☐ Low self-esteem is a major problem.
- D ☐ Being obese is generally considered to be partly genetic.
- E ☐ Messages about food requirement go from the stomach to the brain instantly.

- ☐ F ☐ Parents should take the lead by buying healthy foods.
- ☐ G ☐ Performing liposuction on children is a good idea.
- ☐ H ☐ Some young children appear overweight when they are short.

Questions 23-26

23

According to the information given in the text, choose the correct answer or answers from the choices given.

People suffering from obesity may suffer from

- ☐ A ☐ sleep apnoea.
- ☐ B ☐ diabetes.
- ☐ C ☐ low blood pressure.

24

Environmental factors contributing to obesity include

- ☐ A ☐ lack of exercise.
- ☐ B ☐ larger portions of food at restaurants.
- ☐ C ☐ comfort eating.

25

Bad things that parents do include

- ☐ A ☐ using food as a reward.
- ☐ B ☐ not telling children to finish their dinners.
- ☐ C ☐ waiting before serving second portions of food.

26

Forbidding foods is bad because children

- ☐ A ☐ will want them even more.
- ☐ B ☐ should be offered a choice of food.
- ☐ C ☐ should be treated equally.

Reading Passage 3

You should spend about 20 minutes on Questions 27 - 40, which are based on Reading Passage 3 below.

Learning about the Past

If the past is a foreign country, the version that used to be taught in Irish schools had a simple landscape. For 750 years after the first invasion by an English king, Ireland suffered oppression. Then at Easter 1916, her brave sons rose against the tyrant; their leaders were shot but their cause prevailed, and Ireland (or 26 of her 32 counties) lived happily ever after. Awkward episodes, like the conflict between rival Irish nationalist groups in 1922 - 23, were airbrushed away. "The civil war was just an embarrassment, it was hardly mentioned," says Jimmy Joyce, who went to school in Dublin in the 1950s.

These days, Irish history lessons are more sophisticated. They deal happily with facts that have no place in a plain tale of heroes and tyrants: like the fact that hundreds of thousands of Irish people, Catholic and Protestant, fought for Britain during the two world wars. Why the change? First, because in the 1980s, some people in Ireland became uneasy about the fact that a crude view of their national history was fuelling a conflict in the north of the island. Then, came a fall in the influence of the Catholic church, whose authority had rested on a deft fusion between religion and patriotism. Also at work was an even broader shift: a state that was rich, confident, and cosmopolitan saw less need to drum simple ideas into its youth, especially if those ideas risked encouraging violence.

As countries all over the world argue over "what to tell the children" about their collective past, many will look to Ireland rather enviously. Its seamless transition from a nationalist view of history to an open-minded one is an exception. A history curriculum is often a telling sign of how a nation and its elites see themselves: as victims of colonialism or practitioners (either repentant or defiant) of imperial power. In the modern history of Mexico, for example, a big landmark was the introduction, 15 years ago, of textbooks that were a bit less anti-American. Many states still see history teaching, and the inculcation of foundation myths, as a strategic imperative; others see it as an exercise in teaching children to think for themselves. The experience of several countries suggests that, whatever educators and politicians might want, there is a limit to how far history lessons can diverge in their tone from society as a whole.

Take Australia. John Howard, the conservative prime minister, has made history one of his favourite causes. At a "history summit" he held last August, educators were urged to "reestablish a structured narrative" about the nation's past. This was seen by liberal critics as a doomed bid to revive a romantic vision of white settlement in the 18th century. The romantic story has been fading since the 1980s, when a liberal, revisionist view came to dominate curricula: one that replaced "settlement" with "invasion" and that looked for the first time at the stories of aborigines and women. How much difference have Australia's policy battles made to what children in that cosmopolitan land are taught? Under Mr. Howard's 11-year government, "multicultural" and "aboriginal reconciliation", two terms that once had currency, have faded from the policy lexicon, but not from classrooms. Australia's curricula are controlled by the states, not from Canberra. Most states have rolled Australian history into social studies courses, often rather muddled. In New South Wales, where the subject is taught in its own right, Mr. Howard's bid to promote a patriotic view of history meets strong resistance.

Judy King, head of Riverside Girls High School in Sydney, has students from more than 40 ethnic groups at her school. "It's simply not possible to present one story to them, and nor do we," she says. "We canvass all the terms for white settlement: colonialism, invasion, and genocide. Are all views valid? Yes. What's the problem with that? If the prime minister wants a single narrative instead, then speaking as someone who's taught history for 42 years he'll have an absolute fight on his hands." Tom Ying, head of history at Burwood Girls High School in Sydney, grew up as a Chinese child in the white Australia of the 1950s. In a school where most students are from non-English-speaking homes, he welcomes an approach that includes the dark side of European settlement. "When you have only one side of the story, immigrants, women, and aborigines aren't going to have an investment in it."

Australia is a country where a relatively gentle (by world standards) effort to re-impose a sort of national ideology looks destined to fail. Russia, by contrast, is a country where the general principle of a toughly enforced ideology, and a national foundation story, still seems natural to many people, including the country's elite. In a telling sign of how he wants Russians to imagine their past, President Vladimir Putin has introduced a new national day - November 4 - to replace the old Revolution Day holiday on November 7. What the new date recalls is the moment in 1612 when Russia, after a period of chaos, drove the Catholic Poles and Lithuanians out of Moscow. Despite the bonhomie of this week's 25-minute chat between Mr. Putin and Pope Benedict XVI, the president is promoting a national day which signals "isolation and defensiveness" towards western Christendom, says Andrei Zorin, a Russian historian.

In South Africa, where white rule collapsed, the authorities seem to have done a better job at forging a new national story and avoiding the trap of replacing one rigid ideology with another. "The main message of the new school curriculum is inclusion and reconciliation," says Linda Chisholm, who designed post-apartheid lessons. "We teach pupils to handle primary sources, like oral history and documents, instead of spoon-feeding them on textbooks," adds Aled Jones, a history teacher at Bridge House School in Cape Province. It helps that symbols and anniversaries have been redefined with skill. December 16 was a day to remember white settlers clashing with the Zulus in 1838; now it is the Day of Reconciliation.

Questions 27-30

For each question, only ONE of the choices is correct.

Write the corresponding letter in the appropriate box on your answer sheet.

27 The Irish Civil War was not taught much in Ireland in the past because

- ☐ A it didn't fit in with the history of the Irish fighting British rule.
- ☐ B the Irish people couldn't understand why it happened.
- ☐ C the Irish didn't want to anger the British.

28 John Howard favours teaching history

- ☐ A as it was taught in Australia before the 1980s.
- ☐ B as it is taught in Australia now.
- ☐ C as it is taught in most other countries.

29 The new Russian holiday appears to demonstrate that Russia is

- ☐ A becoming less authoritative
- ☐ B strongly enforcing a link between ideology and history.
- ☐ C becoming opposed to the influence of western Christianity.

30 History in South Africa is now taught differently because

- ☐ A of the collapse of apartheid.

Access <https://ieltsionlinetests.com> for more practices

- ☒ B of the collapse of rule by white people.
- ☐ C teachers are better than before.

Questions 31-35

Complete the following sentences using NO MORE THAN THREE WORDS from the text for each gap.

Many Irish people thought a simple view of history was 31 _____ in Northern Ireland.

The things that are taught in history classes often tell us how countries and people 32 _____

The terms “multicultural” and “aboriginal reconciliation” can still be found in Australian 33 _____

Judy King says John Howard would like 34 _____ rather than look at history from different standpoints.

In South Africa, changing a 35 _____ for another has been avoided.

Questions 36-40

Do the following statements agree with the information given in Reading Passage 3?

In boxes 36 - 40 on your sheet, write

TRUE	if the statement agrees with the information
FALSE	if the statement contradicts the information
NOT GIVEN	If there is no information on this

36   As Ireland became richer, Irish people became less interested in simple ideas.

37   Most countries believe learning about history should allow students to think for themselves.

38   The meanings of the words “settlement” and “invasion” are not the same.

39  A foundation story is an important part of history classes in Russia.

40  The new South African history curriculum aims to include different standpoints and bring people together.

Solution:

- |                          |                           |
|--------------------------|---------------------------|
| 1 Guilt free materialism | 2 Careerism               |
| 3 Parental ties          | 4 Marital freedom         |
| 5 Sex and divorce        | 6 consumer group          |
| 7 dating                 | 8 a noble cause           |
| 9 FALSE                  | 10 TRUE                   |
| 11 FALSE                 | 12 NOT GIVEN              |
| 13 NOT GIVEN             | 14 C                      |
| 15 G                     | 16 H                      |
| 17 A                     | $\frac{18}{22}$ A,C,D,F,H |

23 A,B

24 A,B

25 A

26 A

27 A

28 A

29 C

30 B

31 fuelling a conflict

32 see themselves

33 classrooms

34 a single narrative

35 rigid ideology

36 TRUE

37 NOT GIVEN

38 FALSE

39 NOT GIVEN

40 TRUE

Review and Explanations

1 Answer: Guilt free materialism

Keywords in Questions	Similar words in Passage
Q1: Young Indian women who want more tend to be poorer .	Guilt-free materialism This shows that the less women have, the greater are their aspirations.
Note: The keywords used in scanning are “ want more ” and “ poorer ”. Considering all of the given information, we can conclude that the answer is guilt free materialism .

2 Answer: Careerism

Keywords in Questions	Similar words in Passage
Q2: Few young Indian women want to be housewives .	Careerism The percentage of those saying they want to be a full-time housewife is minuscule .
Note: The keywords used in scanning are “ few ” and “ housewives ”. Considering all of the given information, we can conclude that the answer is careerism .

3 Answer: Parental ties

Keywords in Questions	Similar words in Passage
Q3: Most young Indian women want to take care of their retired parents .	Parental ties 67% say they plan to take care of their parents into their old age - and that means they need money.
Note: The keywords used in scanning are “ most ”, “ take care ” and “ retired parents ”. Considering all of the given information, we can conclude that the answer is parental ties .

4 Answer: Marital freedom

Keywords in Questions	Similar words in Passage
-----------------------	--------------------------

Q4: Most young Indian women want to be financially independent.	Marital freedom 65% say dating is essential, and they also want to become financially independent before they marry. 76% say they want to maintain that independence afterwards.
Note: The keywords used in scanning are “most” and “financially independent”. Considering all of the given information, we can conclude that the answer is marital freedom.

5 Answer: Sex and divorce

Keywords in Questions	Similar words in Passage
Q 5 : _____ are freely talked about on American TV shows.	Sex and divorce were openly discussed in these TV imports and couples kissed passionately - then still a taboo in Indian TV shows and movies.
Note: Here we must find a noun or a noun phrase, which are freely talked about on American TV shows. The text above shows us that “sex and divorce” are the words that we are looking for. For that reason, the answer is sex and divorce (3 words).

6 Answer: consumer group

Keywords in Questions	Similar words in Passage
Q6: Young women are considered to be the future's most important _____ by many companies.	Because today's young women are the key consumer group of tomorrow, these shifts have big implications for marketing companies.
Note: Here we must find a noun or a noun phrase, which is the most important thing that young women are considered to be in the future by many companies. The text above shows us that “consumer group” are the words that we are looking for. For that reason, the answer is consumer group (2 words).

7 Answer: dating

Keywords in Questions	Similar words in Passage
-----------------------	--------------------------

Q 7 : Most young Indian women surveyed agree that _____ before marriage is necessary.	65% say dating is essential, and they also want to become financially independent before they marry.
Note: Here must find a noun or a noun phrase, which is something that most young Indian women surveyed consider to be necessary before marriage. The text above shows us that “dating” is the word that we are looking for. For that reason, the answer is dating (1 word).

8 Answer: a noble cause

Keywords in Questions	Similar words in Passage
Q8: In the past, young Indian women who wanted careers were most likely to consider teaching or becoming doctors because each of these is considered to be _____	After that, most said they wanted to be teachers or doctors. If they had a profession at all, it had to be a noble cause .
Note: Here we must find a noun, a noun phrase or an adjective. The text above shows us that “a noble cause” are the words that we are looking for. For that reason, the answer is a noble cause (3 words).

9 Answer: FALSE

Keywords in Questions	Similar words in Passage
Q9: The effect of American culture on young Indian women was not forecast when satellite and cable TV arrived in India.	When the first American music videos and popular TV shows began appearing in Indian homes in the early 1990s thanks to satellite and cable, many pundits predicted Indian society would never be the same.
Note: Question: The effect of American culture on young Indian women was not forecast when satellite and cable TV arrived in India. Passage: When the first American music videos and popular TV shows began appearing in Indian homes in the early 1990s thanks to satellite and cable, many pundits predicted Indian society would never be the same. For that reason, the answer is FALSE.

10 Answer: TRUE

Keywords in Questions	Similar words in Passage
Q 1 0 : Researchers used three methods to get their data.	One study examined 3,400 unmarried women aged 19-22 of different income and social levels.  In some cases, the researchers lived with the women for a while to study them more closely.  The researchers supplemented this data with interviews of journalists, teachers, and psychologists.
Note:  Considering every detail in the question and in the passage, we can conclude that Q10 is confirmed in the passage.  For that reason, the answer is TRUE .

11 Answer: FALSE

Keywords in Questions	Similar words in Passage
Q11: Most young Indian women are aiming for perfection .	...a number of sociological studies show that young Indian females now prize financial independence, freedom to decide when to marry and have children, and glamorous careers .
Note:  Question: Most young Indian women are aiming for perfection .  Passage: ...young Indian females now prize financial independence, freedom to decide when to marry and have children, and glamorous careers .  For that reason, the answer is FALSE .

12 Answer: NOT GIVEN

Keywords in Questions	Similar words in Passage
Q12: Most of the best journalists on TV in India are women .	A surprising 45% of young single females say they would like to be journalists. This may be because prominent female Indian journalists , especially TV reporters, are seen as very glamorous.
Note:  Even though most young single Indian women want to be journalists and prominent female Indian journalists on TV are seen as very glamorous, the fact that most of the best journalists on TV in India are women is never clarified throughout the passages.  For that reason, the answer is NOT GIVEN .

13 Answer: NOT GIVEN

Keywords in Questions	Similar words in Passage
Q13: Modern men and women in India cook together.	A recent Whirlpool ad shows a man washing the family clothes before his wife comes home from work, while a Samsung home appliance ad shows a husband and wife cooking together.
Note:  It is true that a man and a woman cook together in a Samsung advertisement. However, the passages never confirm whether modern men and women in India cook together in real life. For that reason, the answer is NOT GIVEN .

14 Answer: C

Keywords in Questions	Similar words in Passage
Q14: Feeling bad about yourself	Negative body image can cause depression and social problems - overweight children are often teased. Low self-esteem may not directly affect physical health, but it is actually the biggest problem obese children meet in everyday life.
Note:  After skimming and considering all the information given in Q14 , we can conclude that the answer is C . In fact, self-esteem = confidence in your ability/body/value. Therefore, "low self-esteem" means that you do not have much confidence in your ability/body/value. In other words, "low self-esteem" is feeling bad about yourself.

15 Answer: G

Keywords in Questions	Similar words in Passage
Q15: Reducing weight	Weight management camps can be a good way to treat obesity.
Note:  After skimming and considering all the information given in Q15 , we can conclude that the answer is G . In fact, obesity = being extremely fat. Therefore, "treat obesity" means "losing/reducing weight".

16 Answer: H

Keywords in Questions	Similar words in Passage
-----------------------	--------------------------

Q16: Age is a factor	Few treatments are targeted at children under the age of seven years. From age eight to ten, a child who is obese should have a medical evaluation to assess the severity of the problem. The older your child is, the less likely they are to grow out of it. A 15-year-old who is overweight is likely to remain so in adulthood.
Note: After skimming and considering all the information given in Q16 , we can conclude that the answer is H . In fact, throughout the paragraph, treatments and obesity are likely to be decided by age factors.

17 Answer: A

Keywords in Questions	Similar words in Passage
Q17: Fat cells	Fat cells are created in the first few years of life. If fat is stored quickly, more fat cells are created. Eventually, fat cells stop multiplying, and an adult has a fixed number for the rest of their life. The amount of fat the body wants to store is thought to be proportional to the total number of fat cells.
Note: After skimming and considering all the information given in Q17 , we can conclude that the answer is A . In fact, the keyword “fat cells” is likely to exclusively appear in this paragraph. Once again, skimming proves extremely helpful in this type of questions.

18-22 Answer: A,C,D,F,H

Keywords in Questions	Similar words in Passage
Q18: Adults do not gain fat cells. Diabetes is not a permanent problem for a person.	Option A Eventually, fat cells stop multiplying, and an adult has a fixed number for the rest of their life. Option B Diabetes cannot be cured, but it can be treated. It may lead to problems such as nerve damage, heart disease, kidney disease, and blindness. Children with this condition will have to live with it all their lives, increasing the chance of problems.

Note:

Option A

Considering every detail in the question and in the passage, we can conclude that A is confirmed in the passage. For that reason, the answer is A.

Option B

Question: Diabetes is not a permanent problem for a person.

Passage: Children with this condition will have to live with it all their lives.

For that reason, the answer is NOT B.

Keywords in Questions	Similar words in Passage
Q19: C . Low self-esteem is a major problem	Low self-esteem may not directly affect physical health, but it is actually the biggest problem obese children meet in everyday life.
Note: Considering every detail in the question and in the passage, we can conclude that C is confirmed in the passage. For that reason, the answer is C .

Keywords in Questions	Similar words in Passage
Q20: D . Being obese is generally considered to be partly generic E . Messages about food requirement go from the stomach to the brain instantly	Option D Although the causes are not yet completely understood, it is clear to scientists that both genes and the environment play a role . Option E It takes some time for the messages that tell us we have had enough to eat to reach the brain .

Note:

Option D

Considering every detail in the question and in the passage, we can conclude that D is confirmed in the passage. For that reason, the answer is D.

Option E

Question: Messages about food requirement go from the stomach to the brain instantly.

Passage: It takes some time for the messages that tell us we have had enough to eat to reach the brain.

For that reason, the answer is NOT E.

Keywords in Questions	Similar words in Passage
Q21: F. Parents should take the lead by buying healthy foods	Remember that your child is likely to model themselves on your behaviour, so choose healthy food options whenever possible.

Note:

Considering every detail in the question and in the passage, we can conclude that F is confirmed in the passage.

For that reason, the answer is F.

Keywords in Questions	Similar words in Passage
Q22: G. Performing liposuction on children is a good idea H. Some young children appear overweight when they are short	Option G An increasing number of parents ask their doctors about surgery (e.g. liposuction ) to tackle obesity... Performing surgery on children would raise some difficult issues. Option H Children grow at different rates, and many overweight children will 'grow out of it' as they grow taller.

Note:

Option G

Question: Performing liposuction on children is a good idea.

Passage: Performing surgery on children would raise some difficult issues.

For that reason, the answer is NOT G.

Option H

Considering every detail in the question and in the passage, we can conclude that H is confirmed in the passage. For that reason, the answer is H.

23 Answer: A,B

Keywords in Questions	Similar words in Passage
Q 2 3 : People suffering from obesity may suffer from Sleep apnoea Diabetes Low blood pressure	They may also suffer from sleep apnoea'. Some obese children may develop diabetes. Few health problems are observed in obese children, but they may develop conditions that cause problems later in life, such as high blood pressure.
Note: The content of A is confirmed in the passage. The content of B is confirmed in the passage. The content of C is opposite to the information in the passage. For that reason, the answers are A and B .

24 Answer: A,B

Keywords in Questions	Similar words in Passage
Q 2 4 : Environmental factors contributing to obesity include Lack of exercise Larger portions of food at restaurants Comfort eating	Firstly, many people are much less physically active nowadays. Thirdly, average portion sizes have become larger.. It may even lead to 'comfort eating' (eating to feel good), making the situation even worse.

Note:

The content of A is confirmed in the passage.

The content of B is confirmed in the passage.

The content of C is opposite to the information in the passage. Comfort eating is not an environmental cause of obesity. In fact, obesity results in comfort eating.

For that reason, the answers are A and B.

25 Answer: A

Keywords in Questions	Similar words in Passage
Q25: Bad things that parents do include Using food as a reward Not telling children to finish their dinners Waiting before serving second portions of food	Using food as a reward is never a good idea because your child will learn to value these particular 'treat' foods and may turn to food for comfort. ...Children all over the world have been forced by their parents to finish all the food that is on their plate. Don't force children to eat more when they say they are full... Wait a few minutes before serving a second portion of food at mealtimes.

Note:

The content of A is confirmed in the passage.

The content of B is opposite to the information in the passage. In fact, not telling children to finish their dinners is a good deed that parents do.

The content of C is opposite to the information in the passage. In fact, waiting before serving second portions of food is a good deed that parents do.

For that reason, the answer is A.

26 Answer: A

Keywords in Questions	Similar words in Passage
Q26: Forbidding foods is bad because children Will want them even more Should be offered a choice of food Should be treated equally	It is not worth forbidding fattening foods, because forbidding certain foods can make them seem more attractive to children.

Note:

The passage directly confirms option A by stating that forbidding fattening foods may make them more attractive to children. Being more attractive to children means that children may want to eat fattening foods even more. For that reason, the answer is A.

27 Answer: A

Keywords in Questions	Similar words in Passage
Q27: The Irish Civil War was not taught much in Ireland in the past because It didn't fit in with the history of the Irish fighting British rule. The Irish people couldn't understand why it happened. The Irish didn't want to anger the British.	For 750 years after the first invasion by an English king, Ireland suffered oppression. Then at Easter 1916, her brave sons rose against the tyrant; their leaders were shot but their cause prevailed, and Ireland (or 26 of her 32 counties) lived happily ever after. Awkward episodes, like the conflict between rival Irish nationalist groups in 1922 - 23, were airbrushed away. "The civil war was just an embarrassment, it was hardly mentioned," says Jimmy Joyce, who went to school in Dublin in the 1950s.

Note:

The content of A is confirmed in the passage.

The content of B is not mentioned in the passage.

The content of C is not mentioned in the passage.

For that reason, the answer is A.

28 Answer: A

Keywords in Questions	Similar words in Passage
Q28: John Howard favours teaching history As it was taught in Australia before the 1980s. As it is taught in Australia now. As it is taught in most other countries.	Take Australia. John Howard, the conservative prime minister, has made history one of his favourite causes. At a "history summit" he held last August, educators were urged to "reestablish a structured narrative" about the nation's past. This was seen by liberal critics as a doomed bid to revive a romantic vision of white settlement in the 18th century. The romantic story has been fading since the 1980s...

Note:

The passage indirectly confirms option A. In fact, the paragraph mentions that at a history summit that John Howard held last August, he urged educators to reestablish a structured narrative about the nation's past. Liberal critics believed that he wanted to revive a romantic vision that has been fading since 1980s. From the liberal critics' point of view, we can conclude that John Howard favours teaching history as it was taught in Australia before the 1980s. For that reason, the answer is A.

29 Answer: C

Keywords in Questions	Similar words in Passage
Q 29 : The new Russian holiday appears to demonstrate that Russia is Becoming less authoritative Strongly enforcing a link between ideology and history. Becoming opposed to the influence of western Christianity.	In a telling sign of how he wants Russians to imagine their past, President Vladimir Putin has introduced a new national day - November 4 - to replace the old Revolution Day holiday on November 7. What the new date recalls is the moment in 1612 when Russia, after a period of chaos, drove the Catholic Poles and Lithuanians out of Moscow. Despite the bonhomie of this week's 25-minute chat between Mr. Putin and Pope Benedict XVI, the president is promoting a national day which signals "isolation and defensiveness" towards western Christendom, says Andrei Zorin, a Russian historian.
Note: The passage directly confirms option C. For that reason, the answer is C.

30 Answer: B

Keywords in Questions	Similar words in Passage
Q30: History in South Africa is now taught differently because Of the collapse of apatheism. Of the collapse of rule by white people. Teachers are better than before.	In South Africa, where white rule collapsed, the authorities seem to have done a better job at forging a new national story and avoiding the trap of replacing one rigid ideology with another.

Note:

The content of A is not mentioned in the passage.

The content of B is confirmed in the passage.

The content of C is irrelevant to the passage.

For that reason, the answer is B.

31 Answer: fuelling a conflict

Keywords in Questions	Similar words in Passage
Q31: Many Irish people thought a simple view of history was _____ in Northern Ireland	First, because in the 1980s, some people in Ireland became uneasy about the fact that a crude view of their national history was fuelling a conflict in the north of the island.
Note: Here we must find an adjective, a noun, a noun phrase or a phrase. The text above shows us that ‘fuelling a conflict’ are the words that we are looking for. For that reason, the answer is fuelling a conflict (3 words).

32 Answer: see themselves

Keywords in Questions	Similar words in Passage
Q32: The things that are taught in history classes often tell us how countries and people _____	A history curriculum is often a telling sign of how a nation and its elites see themselves : as victims of colonialism or practitioners (either repentant or defiant) of imperial power.
Note: Here we must find a verb, which is an action that countries and people do as taught in history classes. The text above shows us that ‘see themselves’ are the words that we are looking for. For that reason, the answer is see themselves (2 words).

33 Answer: classrooms

Keywords in Questions	Similar words in Passage
-----------------------	--------------------------

Q33: The terms “multicultural” and “aboriginal reconciliation” can still be found in Australian _____	Under Mr. Howard’s 11-year government, “multicultural” and “aboriginal reconciliation”, two terms that once had currency, have faded from the policy lexicon, but not from classrooms.
Note: Here we must find a noun or a noun phrase reflecting an Australian place where “multicultural” and “aboriginal reconciliation” can still be found. The text above shows us that “classrooms” is the word that we are looking for. For that reason, the answer is classrooms (1 word).

34 Answer: a single narrative

Keywords in Questions	Similar words in Passage
Q34: Judy King says John Howard would like _____ rather than look at history from different standpoints	“It’s simply not possible to present one story to them, and nor do we,” she says. ‘We canvass all the terms for white settlement: colonialism, invasion, and genocide. Are all views valid? Yes. What’s the problem with that? If the prime minister wants a single narrative instead, then speaking as someone who’s taught history for 42 years he’ll have an absolute fight on his hands.”
Note: Here we must find a noun or a noun phrase, which is something that Judy King says John Howard would prefer rather than look at history from different perspectives. The text above shows us that “a single narrative” are the words that we are looking for. For that reason, the answer is a single narrative (3 words).

35 Answer: rigid ideology

Keywords in Questions	Similar words in Passage
Q35: In South Africa, changing a _____ for another has been avoided	In South Africa, where white rule collapsed, the authorities seem to have done a better job at forging a new national story and avoiding the trap of replacing one rigid ideology with another.

Note:

Here we must find a noun or a noun phrase.

The text above shows us that “rigid ideology” are the words that we are looking for.

For that reason, the answer is rigid ideology (2 words).

36 Answer: TRUE

Keywords in Questions	Similar words in Passage
Q36: As Ireland became richer, Irish people became less interested in simple ideas.	Also at work was an even broader shift: a state that was rich, confident, and cosmopolitan saw less need to drum simple ideas into its youth, especially if those ideas risked encouraging violence.
Note: Considering every detail in the question and in the passage, we can conclude that Q36 is confirmed in the passage. For that reason, the answer is TRUE .

37 Answer: NOT GIVEN

Keywords in Questions	Similar words in Passage
Q37: Most countries believe learning about history should allow students to think for themselves.	Many states still see history teaching, and the inculcation of foundation myths, as a strategic imperative; others see it as an exercise in teaching children to think for themselves.
Note: From the passage, we can tell that many states believe that learning history should allow students to think for themselves. As shown on the passage, however, other states have an entirely different belief. We cannot know how much is “many” and how much is “others”. Thus, we cannot say for sure that most countries believe that learning history should allow students to think for themselves. For that reason, the answer is NOT GIVEN .

38 Answer: FALSE

Keywords in Questions	Similar words in Passage
Q38: The meanings of the words “settlement” and “invasion” are not the same.	“We canvass all the terms for white settlement: colonialism, invasion, and genocide.”

Note:

Question: The meanings of the words “settlement” and “invasion” are not the same.

Passage: We canvass all the terms for white settlement: colonialism, invasion, and genocide.

For that reason, the answer is FALSE.

39 Answer: NOT GIVEN

Keywords in Questions	Similar words in Passage
Q39: A foundation story is an important part of history classes in Russia.	Russia, by contrast, is a country where the general principle of a toughly enforced ideology, and a national foundation story, still seems natural to many people, including the country's elite.
Note: Even though the keyword “foundation history” appears in the passage, we cannot say for sure whether the foundation history is in important part of history classes in Russia. For that reason, the answer is NOT GIVEN .

40 Answer: TRUE

Keywords in Questions	Similar words in Passage
Q40: The new South African history curriculum aims to include different standpoints and bring people together.	“The main message of the new school curriculum is inclusion and reconciliation,”
Note: Considering every detail in the question and in the passage, we can conclude that Q40 is confirmed in the passage. For that reason, the answer is TRUE .	